Who we are

We are a vibrant Catholic learning community that promotes the flourishing of people through study, research, and pastoral outreach.

In 2023 we celebrate our 30 year anniversary and we are proud that we have actively engaged in theological dialogue on social, ethical, political and spiritual matters during this time.

We resource schools, parishes, hospitals, prisons and other institutions with expertise, training and pastoral support. Our theology engages with different professional and community-based (service) needs and perspectives. This is enriched and enabled by an interdisciplinary approach that is at the heart of our educational work. Many of our students gain qualifications from the University of Cambridge and Anglia Ruskin University (DTM, BA, MA, MPhil, Prof Doc, PhD).

We hope that our programme will whet your appetite for studying with us – both in terms of your personal interests and your professional, pastoral or voluntary service needs.

All our courses will have online facility – providing access to students from all over the world.
MA in Christian Spirituality East & West

Programme Leader:
Dr Louise Nelstrop MBIT

Join a lively debate on the meaning and the role of spirituality in the context of the Christian traditions as well as in today’s multi-cultural environments.

Students will be supported to:

- Progress in critical understanding and knowledge of aspects of both Eastern (Orthodox) and Western Christian traditions.
- Explore and evaluate contemporary manifestations of Christian spiritual belief and practice;
- Develop a critical understanding of the human condition as it shapes different approaches to Christian spirituality;
- Relate the discourse of Spirituality to a wide range of contemporary personal, professional and vocational questions.

Discussion on the Synod’s Instrumentum Laboris

Date: 5th of October 2023
5:00 pm
Leader: Dr Peter Coughlan
& Anne Marie O' Riordan
Cost: Free
Online Webinar

The October 2023 Synodal Assembly centers around the Instrumentum Laboris (IL), a Working Paper. This paper has a dual role: it outlines 'spirit-guided pathways' derived from the global listening process, and presents them as questions for future reflection and action rather than conclusive solutions.

The Synod on Synodality, launched in October 2021 under the visionary leadership of Pope Francis, stands as a defining initiative of his pontificate. Distinguished as the most comprehensive listening and consultation process ever embarked upon by the global Catholic Church, its essence lies in facilitating a collective journey.
CELEBRATING 30 YEARS of INTERFAITH DIALOGUE

Date: 15th of November 2023
5:00 pm
Cost: Free
In person and Online

WOMEN & DIAKONIA: Ministry of Women and the Question of Diaconal Ordination

Date: 24th & 25th of November 2023
Cost: Please see the Eventbrite link for pricing options.
In person and Online
Venue: Lightfoot Room, Faculty of Divinity of the University of Cambridge, Sidgwick Site, Cambridge.

We extend a cordial invitation to immerse yourself in an international symposium, where a rigorous exploration of the essential role played by women in diakonia will be at the heart of scholarly deliberations.

In recent years, there has been renewed interest and debate within the Catholic Church about the possibility of ordaining women to the diaconate. Advocates argue that women have contributed significantly to the life of the Church and that there is historical evidence of women serving as deacons in the early Church.

This study day will consider the origins of the eucharistic prayer and its development in different geographical areas in the early centuries of the church.

The day will be led by Dr Peter Coughlan. In August 1965 Peter was appointed to the Vatican’s Consilium for the Implementation of the Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy and thus followed closely the development of the three new eucharistic prayers. In 1973 he was appointed as a member of the commission charged with drawing up three new eucharistic prayers for use with children and two new eucharistic prayers on the theme of reconciliation.

Ethics in the Professional Context

Dates:
Spanning from May 7th to June 4th, 2024
Tuesdays: 5:00 pm – 7:00 pm, and a special session on Saturday, October 12th 1:30 pm – 5:00 pm.

Cost: £ 230

Online Course
Course Leader: Dr Anna Abram

This interactive interdisciplinary course delves into ethical concepts within a professional context, aiding students in building their own ethical foundations and reasoning tools.

Elements such as sources of ethical thinking and moral imagination; central concepts such as equality, common good, human dignity; the value and spirituality of work; the role of ethics in society, all contribute to the theological context in which a particular profession will be approached.

"It was a delight to find this hidden gem. MBIT has a very welcoming and caring atmosphere. It's also been great to work alongside students of different faith backgrounds. The taught Masters programme offered much flexibility, giving the opportunity to attend lectures, study online or a combination of the two. Everyone is very supportive, give quick responses to your queries and there are plenty of resources available to make studying from home possible. It feels like everyone wants you to do well. Working full-time, I would never have had the opportunity to study without this flexibility and support. The staff have been wonderful and I very much consider it a blessed time."

Nalini Nathan, a graduate of the MA in Contemporary Ethics.

"Chaplaincy in its diverse sectors is now one of the most common ways in which the Church encounters and ministers to lay people and those beyond her boundaries, so it matters that we understand what we are doing and why. Our Course Director and tutor, Dr Sue Price and Anne Marie O’Riordan, are experienced pastoral practitioners as well as good academics. I was struck by how their pastoral experience informed the way they taught as well as the quality of their input. As we explored together different models of theological reflection, I gained the skills for a more coherent practice of reflection both on my life and on continuing pastoral encounters."

Roberta Canning, a student of the MA in Pastoral Care & Chaplaincy
